1. What does the Certification cover?

There are two Certificates, covering 8 topics.

- Certificate I topics: Display, Video, Social and SEM (Paid Search).
- Certificate II topics: SEO (Search Engine Optimisation), Content Marketing, Programmatic and Measurement that matters.

Each session runs for 1-1.5 hours. Plus you should plan additional self-study prior to the exams, including completion of three practice exams.

If you already have digital knowledge in one or all of the above areas, you do not need to complete the training session. You may choose to participate in the individual modules where you need to further your knowledge.

To participate in the E-learning semesters, you will need to pay and register for the exams prior to gaining access to the MFA Digital Foundations E-learning program.

2. Why do I need Certification?

MFA member agencies told us that they wanted a standardised benchmark for basic digital media proficiency across the industry. The MFA Digital Foundations Certification program was created to fulfil this demand, and is relevant for all individuals within the media and marketing industry.

The certification provides proof of digital media knowledge and equips individuals with the knowledge and tools they require to handle the next stage of growth in this hugely important sector of our business. It demonstrates their commitment towards career development and enhances their marketability in the industry.

MFA Digital Foundations Certification means that the individual has passed Certificate I and Certificate II exams, which covers the 8 topics.

3. Who developed the MFA Digital Foundations Certification Program?

The MFA Interactive Committee, which has representation from all major media agency groups developed the program.

4. How can I become certified?

To earn certification, you'll need to pass two x two-hour exams (Certificate I and Certificate II). Achieving a minimum result of 80%.

Anyone is welcome to take the exam and earn certification. However, gaining certification is a mandatory requirement for advertising professionals with less than 2 years' experience who work at an MFA member agency (note: not recommended for staff with less than 3 months experience).

5. Can I apply for certification if I don't work at an MFA member agency?

Yes. Please see further for costs and details.

6. How do I apply for Certification?

You can apply for certification by registering to participate in the e-learning program and registering for the exam.

Exams for each certificate will take place at off-site exam centres in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. Dates are published on the MFA website or when you register for the e-learning program.

9. How do I pay for registration?

This needs to be discussed with your company. Options are:

- Individuals can pay online via credit/debit card OR
- Companies can purchase an MFA Digital Foundations coupon from the MFA and supply staff with a coupon code to use when making their exam registration booking. To organise a coupon, please contact the MFA on 02 9282 9634.

10. How do I organise a coupon?

Please contact the MFA on 02 9282 9634. You will need to know how many examinees you wish to pay for and a credit card.

11. How can I track the usage of my agency's MFA Digital Foundations coupon?

Please contact the MFA on 02 9282 9634. We will supply a report of the coupon usage and any remaining credit amount.

12. Can I participate in the e-learning and sit the exam if I don't work in Sydney, Melbourne or Brisbane?

You are more than welcome to sit the e-learning, however at the moment, the exams will only be held in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. If you don't work in one of these markets, you will have to discuss with your company if it is possible for you to attend an exam in one of these markets, or if enough people wish to sit the exam in your market the MFA may accommodate. This will be an application process.

13. What happens if I can no longer participate in the E-learning program?

MFA Digital Foundations Certification e-learning program bookings are non transferrable.

- If you wish to cancel more than 10 working days before the start of e-learning semester date, we will refund the cost.
- If you wish to cancel less than 10 working days before the start of e-learning semester date, no costs will be refunded.

If you wish to cancel after the e-learning semester has started, no costs will be refunded.

14. What happens if I want to change the date I am registered to attend the exam?

The MFA will make every effort to accommodate all requests to change the date of your booking, if we are advised more than 10 working days before the event date, pending availability.

Any change of date requests received less than 10 working days before the event date, cannot be accepted and the cancellation policy will apply.

All cancellations or date change requests must be notified in writing to the MFA Event Organiser, email: mfa@mediafederation.org.au.

15. How do I prepare for the exam?

To earn certification, you'll need to take the exam and achieve a minimum score of 80%.

Before you sit the exam, you need to complete the 8 topics via the e-learning program. You should keep a copy of the study guides, which are downloadable from the platform. You should also complete the practice exams, which are available at the end of each Certificate.

You should also create a study group, and involve a digital expert from your company to help prepare you for the exam.

16. What to bring to the exam?

The exam is a closed book exam. You will be required to bring a laptop or tablet and a calculator (you will not be able to use your smartphone as a calculator during the exam).

Most importantly, you will need to bring your MFA Digital Foundations username and password (provided at the time of registration) to access the exam on the day. Without your username and password, you will not be able to access the online exam.

17. What happens if I am late to the exam?

The exam will commence at the stated time at booking. Please ensure you arrive on time, anyone arriving after the exam commencement time will be unable to sit the exam.

18. What happens if I am registered however cannot attend on the day (due to illness, personal or professional reasons?)

Please note, all bookings are non-transferrable.

If you wish to cancel after the exam has started or do not turn up, the registration cost will not be refunded, and your company will be advised of your non-attendance.

19. What will the exam cover?

Each exam is a 2-hour closed book online exam, containing a randomised selection of 100 multiple-choice questions. For Certificate I this is across Display, Video, Social and SEM and for Certificate II this is across SEO, Content Marketing, Programmatic and Measurement that matters. Each exams cover:

- Calculations
- Terminology and Acronyms
- Main Players, Planning Process
- Buying, Industry tools, Evaluation, Ad Ops and Measurement
