

CV TIPS

As you approach the end of your studies, you might be wondering what comes next. Don't worry, we have some tips that will help you create a CV that stands out and gets you noticed!

Make it Personal:

Your CV should reflect your unique qualities and experiences. Write a great purpose statement and make sure it stands out from the crowd.

Tailor it to the Job:

When applying for a job, make sure you tailor your CV to the specific role you're interested in. Quality is more important than quantity, so keep it concise and relevant.

Highlight Your Learnings:

Make sure to include the key learnings from your course. Employers don't know what you've learned, so highlight the most relevant points that apply to the job you're applying for.

Showcase Your Experience:

Internships and work experience are crucial for building your CV. Make sure to share your experience, as it's a great way to show employers what you can bring to the table.

Get a Reference:

A personal reference from a supervisor at a previous job or internship can make a big difference. It shows that someone else has recognized your potential and can vouch for your skills.

Remember, your CV is your first impression on a potential employer. Make sure it showcases your best qualities and experiences in a concise and compelling way. Good luck!
